

If animals could talk I think they would say when their hungry. They would say if they need love or company. Dogs would ask if you could rub their stomach. If you got to close to a cat it, it would tell you to back away or it would let out it's claws. If you give a cat a bath, it would throw a tantrum. Elephants would tell you to get out of their way if you were right in front of them.

If a dog saw a stranger it would say someone was about to do something bad. If a dog was about to go in a car they would say oh boy oh boy. A cheetah would ask a tiger if he wanted to have a race. A bear would ask for some berries. Whales would ask you if you wanted to have a ride on their back. A mommy bird would tell the baby birds they were having worms for breakfast. Some dogs would ask if they could drink out of your toilet. Humming birds would say what flower they would drink from. If dogs were being cute they ask you for a dog treat. If you woke up a bat at day time they would tell you to go away so they could go back to sleep. A pet would apologize if it accidently went poop in the house. Bees would tell you not to step on them so they don't sting you and die. Pigs would tell you their going to have a mud bath. Donkeys would ask you if you wanted to have a ride on their back.

Poisonous snakes would tell you not to touch them or they will bite you. Cats would ask for a nice bowl of milk. Cows would tell you when you could pluck the milk out of their utter. A cat would tell a mouse to hurry up and get back into its hole. A cat would tell their owner that their going to go climb up a tree. Squirrels would tease dogs that they can't catch them. Skunks and dung beetles, if you got to close to them they will say don't get to close to me or I will surely spray. A dolphin would ask if you wanted to a little trick in the water. A lot of animals would ask you what kind of food they want for dinner and breakfast. Some animals will tell you to go away if they just want to take a little nap. A peacock would say do you like my pretty feathers. A rate would say please do not put any rat traps out for me. A lot of dogs would say they want to play ball.